President Explains Visit To Barrios

President Macapagal told crowds who welcomed him to Masbate Sunday morning that his periodic visits to the provinces constituted a part of his effort as Chief Executive to help solve the problems 'not only of people in the cities, but more important of those in the rural areas.

Defending his trip to the provinces with critics had assailed as "pure electioneering and a virtual abandonment of his important duties in Manila," the President told his welcomers: "I visit the provinces because I want to help solve the problems of all our people. This can be accomplished only by being familiar with the nature of their problems. I visit your island because I want to know your problems at first hand so that I can better attend to them."

The Chief Executive also explained that his absence from Manila does not mean that he loses touch with national affairs because, he said, where ever he goes, he remains in direct contact with Malacanang through modern communication facilities.

The President arrived here this morning on board RPS 21 on the second leg of an eight-day tour of the Bicol region, Visayas and Mindanao.

Peñafrancia Message

At this time of the year throughout the length and breadth of the country Bicolanos everywhere lift their thought and spirits in prayer to the Patroness of Bicolandia, the Blessed Virgin of Peñafrancia. We pause from our labors to pay honor and offer thanksgiving to Nuestra Sra. de Peñafrancia for her many intercessions, and because of which God has showered numerous graces and favors upon us. In this skeptical age it can still be truly said that more things are wrought by prayers than the world ever dreamed of.

On my first year of administration of the City of Naga, and of her more than one hundred thousand people, I am particularly pleased and honored to extend the glad welcome of our people to all devotees of the Virgin.

I ask one and all to join in common prayer our grateful thanks to our miraculous Patroness who through all the years past, not to mention the war years, kept the Bicol region, her home, sheltered under the mantle of her sacred protection against calamities.

It is fitting, therefore, that we pay homage to our benefactress, and paying homage to the Blessed Virgin is best shown by good works and humility met by arrangement and empty hands. Many altars, his feet stained when he goes down on his knees before God, recognizing His supreme authority and his utter dependence upon Him.

I greet our visitors and devotees of the Blessed Virgin of Peñafrancia and Divine Rostro with a warm welcome and may they find their short sojourn in our fair city a fruitful and happy one.

management seven demands and these demands have been taken on several table conferences between the Union and Management but up to the present time, the Management have not done anything to implement these demands. They are not asking any increase of wages but plain justice for the employees. Fiderozon, averred.

Among the demands presented and which the Union wants to be implemented are the proper evaluation of salaries, proper implementation of promotions, removal of casual employees and removal of political interference in matters of appointing employees to key positions. These demands, if not carried out will very much work against the regular employees and the Bank as well.

As an example to the proper implementation of promotion, Mr. Fiderozon cited the specific case of Atty. Mariano Trinidad who way were lined by ROTC and PMT to keep the procession orderly. Seminarians and priests were also going along the procession keeping the proper distances of different groups of participants.

headed by JECKK president Tokio Nagayama. They were accompanied to Malacanan by Economic Coordinator Eleuterio Adevos.

The Japanese experts informed the President that preliminary studies on the railway line showed that some 300 million to $60 million are needed to achieve modernization of the system.

The fields of studies conducted included technical services, rolling stock and modern equipment for a two way railroad tracks.

They also said no treasury funds would be involved in the improvement of the railroad firm because the credits to be negotiated by the PNR would be repaid from the increased income of the corporation resulting from the modernization and expansion of its services and facilities.

The JECKK is currently preparing a bankable project study for the PNR to support its bid for a total of $60 million worth of credits from various overseas financing institutions.

The availability of Japanese support of the long-term socio-economic development program in general was promised to President Macapagal by Premier Haya to Ikesa during the latter's visit to the Philippines.

release and use of PCSO funds.

Pelaez pointed out that, at present, sweepstakes funds are released on the date system. "This short range method," he said, "enabled politicians to claim credit for small piecemeal projects, such as a pisciculture center, without accepting responsibility for its maintenance."

The Vice President deplored the staggering waste of funds in health center and other similar projects that had fallen into disuse due to lack of equipment and maintenance funds.

To remedy this situation, Pelaez proposed that a permanent foundation be set up.

Mr. Fiderozon, as spokesman of the local Union of the National Bank said that the National Bank have been notified of the intention of the Union to go on strike for a long time now but somehow the management have not done anything to avoid the strike. He appealed to the public to please bear with them for sometime since they are only seeking justice and no more. He said further that eventually what they are asking will benefit the public, the Bank and the employees as well.

Meanwhile, other Banks operating in the City of Naga increased their volume of business as a result of the disruption of transactions at the Naga Branch of the P.N.B. Dumaguin

I take pleasure in greeting all the people of the City of Naga and their guests as they celebrate the traditional festivities in honor of Our Lady of Penafrancia.

Once again, devotees from the various parts of the Bicol Region and elsewhere will converge to this beautiful City with a common objective, the desire to share with the Naguenes their wonderful tradition which is well-known throughout the Philippines. The people of Naga City have every reason to be proud of their own city, not only of its memorable past but also of the fact that the training centers for our youth in the religious, cultural and academic fields are all conveniently established hereabouts. On this occasion, I also convey my felicitations to our civic, religious, cultural and political leaders for their selfless and collective efforts not only in making their traditional festivities a usual success, but also in shaping this beautiful city of what she is today.

May I therefore convey my heartfelt congratulations and prayer for your continued success and happiness the years through.
