

The GUERRILLA Newspaper"A Fearless Paper for Fearless People"

Editor: VICENTE S. UMALI

Associates: MELQUIADES M. VIRATA, Jr.
MOISES T. GUERRERO
ALFREDO S. CRUZ
VICENTE R. REJANO

Member: UNITED PRESS

Editorial and Business Offices: 40 Sta. Mesa Blvd.

EditorialThe Special Session

The Philippine Congress which was elected under the block-voting system in the popular elections of 1941 again meets in a special session. In its first session it was natural that organizational matters consumed most of its time. The important question of leadership having been settled, its energies may now be directed to constructive work.

We wish its success, nay, we pray for it on behalf of the war-scarred masses who still continue to be overwhelmed by the primeval problem of food, clothing and shelter. The principle that governments exist for the welfare of the citizens instead of the citizens existing for the benefit of the governments is one of the fundamental differences between facism and democracy.

The action of the National Development Company in having subordinated the interests of the citizenry to its own is, in our belief, a departure from the governmental ideology for which we fought for.

It would be presumption on our part to make suggestions to that august body composed, as it is, of the nation's leading citizens. But we insist that as the saying goes, "He who does not look from where he comes, will not reach his destination." All governments came from the people, established by the express or tacit consent of the people. And its various instrumentalities stand on the higher category—a creation and a servant of the people.

"Deutschland Uber Alles" And Other Nazi Martial Airs Banned In U.S. Zone

By ROBERT MUSEL

United Press War Correspondent

WIESBADEN, GERMANY, Aug. 13—(UP)—Dozens of songs that set Nazi feet marching off to war have been banned in the United States zone of occupation.

The program to purge German culture of Nazi influences is designed by experts in the hope that, for example, when future generations hear a certain melody by Haydn, they would not associate it with the inflammatory patriotic hymn of their fathers, "Deutschland Uber Alles."

In Baroque Palace near this notorious Nazi city, a score of American experts have been closely examining German films, radio, and classical and popular music to excise from it with surgical impartiality all spots of Fascist infection. "Horst Wessel Song," "We Sail Against England," "My Life Belongs to Germany," and other such songs indelibly associated with wars of aggressions already are forbidden and more are being added daily.

"But," one expert said, "we are not book burners. We removed only the words of 'Deutschland Uber Alles'—the famous old melody remains. Ours is a delicate job and we take all possible pains to see that we destroy only Nazi culture—not German culture."

Headed by Lieut.-Col. John Stanley, these experts are now awaiting word from intelligence agents on wartime activities of many great German artists, such as film star Emil Jannings and conductor Wilhelm Furtwaengler, before moving into the personnel of the German entertainment world.

It was learned, however, that the noted pianist Walter Gieseking may be banned because at a recent concert for American officers, he resolutely refused to play a piece by Tschai-kowsky, who is Russian.

"He could have played the music requested with his feet," said Capt. Robert LaBranche, former screen and radio writer. "His arrogance was such that we refused him permission to play at a subsequent affair."

Arnold Kvam, former teacher of music at the University of Wisconsin and Rolling College of Florida, who is a technical adviser on music, said that the Nazis perverted many classics to propaganda ends, such as having a Nazi flag waving on the stage during the triumphal march in Verdi's "Aida" and so accenting Wagner's "Ring" operas that every succeeding performance made Siegfried seem more like Hitler and the dragon more like the Western Allies.

"We are not banning Wagner," Wagner was not particularly discouraging it either," Kvam said.

"However, it is not generally known outside Germany that agner was not particularly popular in the Reich. For instance, the Munich Opera had an eleven-month season. During 10 of these months, Wagner rarely was performed. But during the

(Continued on page 4)

This And That

If one should stroll down the streets of Manila nowadays especially during pleasant evenings, he will certainly feel elated if he is a pleasure-seeker and has a lot of money to spend. The air buzzes with the hum of a crowd of soldiers and civilians streaming along the sidewalks in search of fun. The artistically arranged display of souvenirs and gifts in the well-decorated and brightly lighted shops lure the passers-by drop in for a look. Gay music of latest Western tunes float above the gay multitude and mingle with the roar of motor vehicle up and down the streets.

Except for the inevitable sight of rubble still undisposed of an little shocks built on half-broken foundations that alone remain of once grand edifices, one would hardly believe a blight once passed through this city. Were it not for the presence of such conspicuous military personnel so suggestive of an all out military efforts, one would never know a great war about to reach a climax still goes on not far away, judging from the mood of the place. A passing glance may draw out a hasty conclusion that all is well.

But if one were to peer among the shadows of lonely pillars jutting out among the low temporary structures, the soft pleading mumble of many beggars would reach his ears. If one were to watch the number of children loitering about uneasily in the daytime, anyone would know that this happens so because of the equally large number of rooms and buildings closed in the day since these are open only for business at night.

Indeed, so outrageous are the number of nightclubs, dance-halls, and similar such establishments, and so, oh so pitifully few are the educational, social, and cultural facilities of the city. One would think the city has decidedly come out openly for pleasure and forgotten everything else in the merry-making.

However, it has not, really. It is merely enjoying itself for a change while waiting for the Youth to take a full deep breath and start over again.

—NE' LIE SEVIL'ANO

WANTED—

Housegirl—good food, good pay. Apply FAR EAST AMERICAN NOVELTY STORE, 39 Escolta.

SABIDO'S BEAUTY PARLOR

Using Old & Genuine Medicine For Permanent Wave Operated By MRS. SABIDO Long Experienced & U.S. Graduate 243 Zurbaran Cor. Rizal Ave.

WANTED: OPERATORSProfessional:*DOCTOR B. M. VILLAPANDO

Specialist in—Eye, Ear, Nose & Throat diseases. Operation of Tonsil in 2 min. without staying in the Hospital.

Office: 755 Bonavides near corner of Azcarraga Hours: 9 to 12 a.m. only every day.

WIN'S COLUMNON PROMISES

He was a "smart" law student promenading on the Dewey Boulevard with a lady fair. It was the usual Sunday afternoon when the sparkling gaiety of exotic Manila was on a stroll. As the shadows deepened and the promenading was abandoned for the seats on the rocks, the young U.P. law student and the demure "colegiala" sat close to each other, trying to capture the sweetest fulfillment of the last few minutes before the "sweet sorrow" of parting by talking about the endless topic of love. The young man soon quoted from Francois Villon: "Oh! If I were king...what treasures will not I lay at thy feet...the world shall be a ruby in your finger ring...The stars and the moon..." The young girl however had that good quality of housewives, sanity, and she replied: "Hearts, promises and laws are made only to be broken."

Breach of promise is actionable under any law. Under our law you recover only actual damages, while under the Anglo-American law the so-called heart-balm is allowed.

When General MacArthur promised to return, he did return. When the Philippine government promised recognition to guerrillas, it intends to do just that because although the young "colegiala" thinks that promises are made only to be broken still our government believes in the saying that "a promise is a debt that you must not forget." However, it is excusable if you have by fate's decree fallen under the spell of the "flower of forgetfulness".

Peace May Bring Repercussion In Some U. S. Business Fronts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (UP)—Business quarters today indicated that peace will bring repercussion in several basic commodities since producers of these goods have been relying on wartime conditions to keep prices up.

These commodities include wool, of which there are three billion pounds stored in the southern hemisphere and held up on account of shipping shortage.

Business circles opined that if the British, who control most of this wool, try to dispose this commodity quickly, a collapse in prices would be inevitable.

It was also speculated that wheat is likely to become a surplus especially in the United States where large quantities have been in production for industrial alcohol and livestock feed.

Reduction in armaments and livestock requirements would result in lessened demand for wheat.

Although there is great demand for cotton goods, there is strong possibility that cotton would become surplus commodity on the international market within a short period after cessation of hostilities.

The end of hostilities would ease the sugar and fats shortages by the summer of 1946, experts said.

They added that Europe should be producing at a normal pace by next summer, but it will take several years before hog production can be restored to pre-war levels on the continent.

An even longer period will be required for the dairy and beef cattle industry to reach normal levels, experts added.

Reunion

The Fifth M. P. Battalion (Philippine Scouts) held a dance in the outfits camp site Sunday starting at 2:00 p.m. and ending at 9:00 in the evening. Visitors were former residents of the pre-war U. S. Army camps who were afforded the opportunity to meet old acquaintances again. American and Filipino soldiers of other regiments as well as many civilians were also invited to the affair.

Sino Red General Orders Offensive

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (UP)—Radio Yanan today reported that General Chu Teh, commander-in-chief of Chinese communist forces, have ordered his troops to launch widespread attacks on Japanese armies and their lines of communications in China proper and Manchuria.

An earlier Yanan broadcast said that the Korean Independence League has called on Koreans in the Japanese Army and Korean civilians to surrender immediately to Chinese Communists.

Chiang's Order To Sino Reds

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14. (UP)—Radio Yanan, in a broadcast intercepted here today, denounced General Chiang Kai-shek's order instructing Chinese communist forces to take no independent action against Japanese and puppet troops after the Japanese surrender.

The order, Radio Yanan declared, is contrary to the Potsdam Declaration. Gen. Chiang, it added, had issued the order because he was preparing for a civil war.

The broadcast claims that Chinese communist armies should participate in receiving the Japanese surrender.

MOVE TO SEAT 2 MINORITY MEN IN SENATE STARTED

Sotto, Alejandrino Boosted For Posts

A move to seat two runners-up in the last national elections in the Senate was started by the Popular Democratic Party immediately after its organization, authoritative circles revealed yesterday.

Opposition leaders point out that two vacancies exist in the upper chamber of Congress on account of the death of the incumbents, Senators-elect Daniel Maramba and Jose Ozamis. In case the results of the last poll have not yet been canvassed and the elected officials proclaimed, the senate list may now be revised to include those who placed twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth in the senatorial race, it was explained.

It was gathered that the unofficial reports gathered by the opposition headquarters show that Vicente Sotto gathered the highest votes among the runners-up and Jose Alejandrino, second. Third in the list is former Cebu senator Filemon Sotto, it was learned.

U. S. War...

(Continued from page 3)
 anese also were trying another offensive weapon — balloon bombs which sometimes reached America but caused no great damage and only a few casualties.

Entire P.I. Freed

In June the Chinese recaptured Foochow and began regaining former American 14th air force bases and on June 22 the bitter Okinawa campaign ended with 11,260 Americans killed and 33,769 wounded—the heaviest casualties of any campaign in the Pacific. The Japanese lost 90,401 killed.

MacArthur announced in July that the entire Philippines had been liberated and that the campaign was almost closed—freeing his men for the task ahead.

The Navy returned to Japan and for the first time bombed the mainland. Navy planes worked over Japanese industry and the Japanese did not strike back.

Potsdam Note

The air forces—20th (Super-

Deutschland...

(Continued from page 2)
 11th month, it played a great many of his works because English and American visitors were there then and it was done for their benefit.

Kvam said that naturally the works banned by the Nazis are being suggested to new orchestras but here he is running into the amusing paradox of having to criticize programs for having too many banned works.

Roxas Denies...

(Continued from page 1)
 clusions that you draw in that article. I challenge every statement that you make. The article is contrary to every rule of fairness which should govern the attitude of a respectable and responsible newspaper.

"I am openly against Fascism as you well know. I attacked Fascism in whatever form in my first speech in the Senate when I accused the present administration of embarking on a policy leading towards Fascism. I am determined to do whatever lies in my power to combat the introduction of fascist procedures or policies in our country.

"I am not a tool of the Fascists or of anybody. The history of my public service is the best evidence of this statement. (forts), 8th (Superforts), 7th, 5th and 13th—were in operation against the Japanese mainland with everything from fighters to B-29's and Gen. H. H. Arnold predicted that by the end of the year the Japanese would be bombed at the rate of 2,000,000 tons a year—for heavier than Germany ever received.

Then on July 26, the United States, China and Great Britain addressed the Potsdam Proclamation to Japan, asking her to surrender or to face utter destruction. Japan chose to ignore the ultimatum.

On the fateful Monday, Aug. 6, the first atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, practically wiping out that Honshu city in one single blow. Three days later, on Aug. 9, Russia entered the Pacific war and started a giant powerful pincer movement against Manchuria.

The second atomic bomb of the war wrecked the biggest Kyushu city of Nagasaki on Aug. 10. The same evening, Radio Tokyo broadcast Japan's surrender offer, asking, however, that the emperor be kept on the throne. The Allied replied to the Japanese note Saturday night, accepting the Japanese surrender on the condition that the authority of the emperor "shall be subject to the Supreme Commander" of the Allied forces.

In view of the increasing number of the members of the Manila Night Clubs' Federation, and their desire to help one another for their mutual benefits, a Special Meeting will be held today, August 15, 1945, at 9:30 A. M., at its temporary office at 308 España, opposite the U. S. T. Press. Among important matters to be taken up will be the election of four additional members of the Board of Directors, and other important problems affecting the operation of Night Clubs.

"I have been a consistent enemy of the vested interests in our country. "I have no political or business connections with Mr. Andres Soriano, much less do I have any business or political connections with any Jew. Your statement that Mr. Hemady, who by the way is not a Jew, has bought the P. Vera and Sons Press to be placed at my disposal is a brazen lie. Mr. Hemady has nothing to do with the printing press or with the Manila Daily News.

"I desire to avail myself of this opportunity to state once and for all that I am not in sympathy with any Fascist group, that I am going to fight any move to introduce Fascism in the Philippines, that I am going to prevent foreigners from taking any part in politics in the Philippines and that I shall do everything within my power to forestall the control of our government by vested interests.

"You may support any candidate that you desire. That is your privilege. But a man of your standing should be able to find ways of electing your candidate without resorting to scurrilous libel and falsehood. As far as I am concerned, I would rather have men of your type oppose me than be on my side. As a matter of fact, that is why, when you came to my house offering your support, I ignored your proffer and told the members of the Board of Directors of the Young Philippines not to include your name among those to be elected for the Board of Directors.

"I request that this letter be printed in your paper and given the prominence that you have accorded to the unsigned attack against me."

"Your truly,
 "(Sgd.) MANUEL ROXAS"

"I request that this letter be printed in your paper and given the prominence that you have accorded to the unsigned attack against me."

"Your truly,
 "(Sgd.) MANUEL ROXAS"

"Your truly,
 "(Sgd.) MANUEL ROXAS"

"Your truly,
 "(Sgd.) MANUEL ROXAS"

Funeral Rites....

(Continued from page 1)
 Francisco from Washington where the senator had died in a naval hospital last week.

De Gaulle....

(Continued from page 1)
 circles believe that these will be centered on France' future role in the Far East and the big powers' plans for central Germany.

Observers here recalled that France had already surrender offer. France also deplored the fact that French troops are not used by the Allied leaders in the Pacific war.

Petaín's Fate...

(Continued from page 1)
 Mornet has already rested his case and demanded capital punishment for the hero of Verdun.

The defense launched the final struggle to save Petaín's life yesterday at the 19th session of the hearing. Chief defense lawyer Fernand Payen started the legal battle by describing the political situation in France during the period leading up to the armistice.

He will be followed by others who will try to explain charges that Petaín plotted against the republic. The remainder of the defense summing up will be handled by Iro Isorri.

The hearing yesterday was adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

All Senators...

(Continued from page 1)
 structed for the purpose by former Senator Sotero Baluyot, who is an engineering contractor by profession. He will use the same balls used in the sweepstakes lottery for the senatorial draw.

States Council...

(Continued from page 1)
 ed with the immense task of reconstruction and rehabilitation, complicated by problems attendant with independence.

The recreation of the council of state, which will permit the heads of both chambers of Congress to participate in the formulation of national policies, was also announced by the chief executive in his address before the law-making body.

The president devoted the first part of his speech in informing the legislature of the status of the war situation, beginning with the Potsdam declaration to the eventual downfall of the "arrogant" Japanese nation.

See Malacañan...

(Continued on page 4)

The letter, which was endorsed favorably by the NDC head to Vicente Villamin, presently suspended sales manager of the firm, stated that Mrs. Engracia de Reyes "is intending to open a retail store in Navotas, Rizal" and as such would like to purchase textiles from the National Development Company.

As shown to the investigating committee yesterday, the document contained a footnote in the Secretary Singson Encarnacion's handwriting authorizing Mrs. Reyes to purchase "up to the amount of P2,000.00

Sales steadfastly maintained in his testimony that he alone prepared the minutes and that no change thereon had been effected. He said that his usual practice with respect to the preparation of minutes was to distribute to the directors copies of the corrected draft, which he transcribes after every meeting, on the day of the following meeting.

...SMOOTH AS VELVET...

The CHALLENGER Whiskey
 SCOTCH TYPE — SUPERIOR BLEND

• DESIGNED TO MAKE RELAXATION MOMENTS PLEASURABLE!

BLENDED & BOTTLED BY:
 TRANQUILINO S. ROVERO

FLORO & MORDENO
 712 QUEZON BLVD.
 DISTRIBUTOR

(A-1-1113)

CAMERA PORTRAITS
BOBS
 881 B. RIZAL AVE. MANILA

Are you a BRIDE to be?
 Make your appointment early. The best Artistic Wedding Portraits are yours at moderate prices
 Special price for servicemen.

Open—8:00 A.M. to 10:00 P.M.