

HUSBAND HUNTERS

In England Many a Girl Is Suffering Acutely What the Doctors and Psychologist Call "Husband Anxiety."

If you're young and pretty, and looking for a husband—and can't find one—don't fret about it. If you do, the psychologists warn, you're going to wind up a nervous wreck.

And the odds are ten to one that you'll cap your self-created neurosis by grabbing the first eligible bachelor that comes along whether he's the right guy for you or not.

Girls, especially the good-looking ones, begin blaming themselves when they can't get a mate. It's this introspection according to the doctors, that is starting all the trouble.

The lassies are in no way at fault. They can't help it if the war has taken the great majority of eligible young men off the marriage market.

Over in England, where the problem is much more acute than it is in the United States, psychologists and other experts concerned with juvenile delinquency call the problem "husband anxiety."

"The war according to Basil Henriques, Britain's expert on juveniles, "has given the girls a sense of insecurity. This is because the cream of the country has gone to war. The gentler sex feels that if they want to have a husband they must be quick about it."

This anxiety is, in the opinion of the British expert a serious thing, and steps, he said, should be taken to see that the teenagers don't go off on indiscriminate man hunts.

Because the war been going on since 1939 in Britain—and only since 1941 in America—the problem has been progressively more difficult for our English allies. But there's plenty of concern here too

One way of battling the husband neurosis, according to psychologists here and abroad is to get across the idea that the war will soon be over, and that the men anxious to marry as the girls, will be coming back, eager to grab off a wife and settle down.

Meanwhile, the experts advise, it is futile to worry about the situation or to marry the first fellow that comes along just for the sake of getting hitched,

The foily of this, they point out can be best illustrated by the old saw, "Marry in haste and repent at leisure" That in their opinion, is the worst thing any girl can do.

New Talent Is Discovered

The Wonder Boy, popularly known as the "Singing Boot-black", at Ideal Theater is the talk of the town. He is a new talent discovered by Director Avellana one day while he was having his shoes shined at Rizal Ave. A boy, while doing his work, was humming and crooning and Bert's ear did not deceive him and after the job, the director pulled him inside the theater for audition. And the "Shine-shoe" boy of twelve years old and "two grade" is discovered and appeared the very afternoon,—recieved the corresponding salary of Thirty pesos for the day.

The wonder Boy sings smoothly in delightful manner giving emphasis on the tempo as well as the stacatto of the song "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" is interpreted by him choreographically. He still shine shoes between scenes.

You'll Never Know

(For my "ONE and ONLY" by the Associate Editor, Popular "1001" SONG HITS and Editor, SONG HITS SOUVENIR")

You'll never know just how much I've missed you
You'll never know just how much I care
And if I tried I still couldn't hide my love for you
You ought to know for haven't I told you so
A hundred or more times
You went away and my heart went with you
I'll speak your name in my every pray'r
And if there's some other way to prove that I love you I swear I don't know how You'll never know, if you don't know now.

BECAUSE OF YOU

(Dedicated to My One and only by C. Castro of NCF; to Lillian by Tinoy; to Raisy by Luis Grande, Jr., to Daisy by Mike) To Cpl. Fred Whitehead by G. Medrano

Because of you there's a song in my heart
Because of you, my romance had its start
Because of you the sun will shine
The moon and stars will say you're mine
Forever and never would part.
I only live for your love and your kiss
'Tis paradise to be near you you like this
Because of you my life is now worthwhile
And I can smile because of you.
