

A POEM FOR THIS MONTH

HALLOWEEN

By ANGEL V. CAMPOY

HURRAH for Halloween!
Great fun we shall have tonight;
With smiling faces 'neath our masks
We'll make a happy sight.

We'll all be ready when it's dark—
We'll look like sprites and witches old;
We'll visit grandpa and grandma,
And scare the folks who are too bold.

At grandma's house we'll have some fun—
They'll think we're witches out for a lark,
As spook or goblin each will be,
And carry broom or cat so dark.

Then when the Hall'ween party's o'er,
We'll all go out upon our way,
To play some pranks upon our friends;
With shouts and fun we'll end
the day.

Hurrah for Halloween!
Great fun we shall have tonight;
Put on your mask and join with us—
We'll make a happy sight.
