

Three New Marsman Distributors

Scheduled for opening by the end of July are the three new stores of Marsman Trading Corporation distributors shown on these pages. The stores conform to the standard design for all Marsman outlets, and employ materials sold by the Marsman Trading Corporation for their remodeling. Each distributor will carry in stock the various lines of building materials, iron and steel products, radios, refrigerators, and other merchandise represented in the Philippines by the Marsman Trading Corporation.

San Fernando, Pampanga, headquarters of Lazatin Bros., Pampanga province

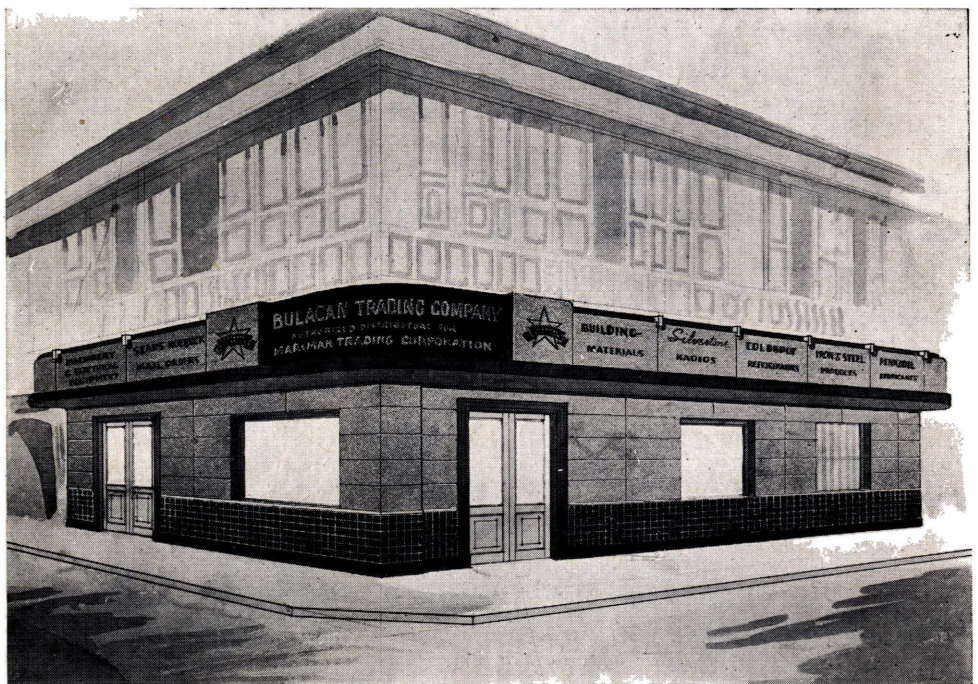

Dagupan, Pangasinan, headquarters of Arturo E. Ilagan (Artuluz Company), distributor for Pangasinan and Tarlac provinces. (Mr. Ilagan's Tarlac headquarters appeared in the June issue of the Marsman Magazine.)

Open Stores in Central Luzon

At left: Modern store for Lazatin Brothers, San Fernando, Pampanga. The Lazatin family is one of the most prominent and respected in the province, and the brothers Emilio and Rafael Lazatin, as Marsman distributors for Pampanga, are demonstrating the energy and devotion to business that have long characterized the entire family. . . . Below, left: One of the most successful distributors of the Marsman Trading Corporation, Arturo E. Ilagan of Tarlac province, is rewarded for his industry by the addition of the province of Pangasinan to his territory. The store shown is his new Dagupan headquarters, in charge of which will be Mr. Ilagan's cousin, Juan Cuevas of Pangasinan. . . . Below, right: Malolos, Bulacan, will be proud of the modern establishment of three of its favorite sons, who have formed a partnership for the conduct of the Marsman distributorship for Bulacan province—Dr. Amando Reyes, Mr. Arsenio Olmos, and Dr. Aurelio Crisostomo.

Brothers, distributors for

Malolos, Bulacan, headquarters of the Bulacan Trading Company, distributors for the province of Bulacan.