Rusk Says Communists Must Choose Peace

Washington - "There can be peace in Southeast Asia if North Vietnam and Communist China are prepared to live at peace with their own neighbors."

"There cannot be peace in Southeast Asia if North Vietnam and Communist China are determined to seize their neighbors by force."

So said U.S. Secretary of State Rusk in an interview published Monday in the monthly magazine Readers' Digest.

PACD . . .

geared towards the Administration's infrastructure program, notably on irrigation, road and school-building constructions.

The idea behind these projects was to spur the rural residents to help themselves on matters of common welfare, which the government has not provided funds for their accomplishments but they may be accomplished with little assistance from the PACD and other agencies.

On the heels of President Marcos recent pronouncement of a widened barrio assistance program, the PACD has started laying the groundwork for a massive rural development program which will reach all towns in the country. At present, it is still beyond the financial and physical capability of the PACD to extend assistance to all towns.

Other highlights of the PACD performance report follow:

1. Provided leadership training to 1,074, 049 rural residents who enrolled in 18,833 classes.
2. Conducted some 10,000 information and other mass media activities, of which some 500,000 persons participated.
3. Gave training on civic action to 3,680 armed forces personnel, who represented all the major services of the AFP, and
4. Trained 230 successful civic service recruits for six months on community development.

The Laurel-Langley Communique

Baguio - The Philippine and U.S. teams, chaired by Undersecretary of Industry Cesar A. Virata and Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Eugene M. Braderman, respectively, have completed eleven days of exploratory discussions on future economic relations between the Philippines and the United States. The discussions resulted from the agreement of President Marcos and President Johnson that "there should be an early beginning of intergovernmental discussions on the concepts underlying a new instrument to replace the Laurel-Langley Agreement after its scheduled expiration in 1974".

The discussions began November 20, 1967 and were conducted in Manila and in Baguio. The respective teams agreed at the beginning that the purpose of the discussions was to exchange ideas on the concepts underlying future trade relations and to determine the issues needing future attention by the respective governments in this area. The meetings were held in a friendly atmosphere, each team hearing opinions and learning facts which were mutually beneficial.

Welcome, NU P Convention Delegates

The host schools and families of Bicolandia look forward to welcoming the delegates to the Eleventh Annual Convention of the National Union of Students of the Philippines in Naga City on December 26-30, 1967.

We consider it a blessing to have so many student leaders from all over the country gather in our midst and share with us their youthful dreams and idealism.

Some may think of youth only in terms of juvenile delinquency, because this is what is often played up in newspapers.

The theme of this Convention 'Youth Answer to the Old Challenge' aims to prove the contrary. We should rather think of youth as a rich reservoir for good. The country stands to profit from their initiative and youthful enthusiasm.

Local officials and members of the NUSP are sparing no effort to accommodate the delegates, and to provide the facilities for a well planned schedule of activities. Our fervent prayers and best wishes go for the success of this Convention.

MESSAGE FROM FATHER RECTOR
WELCOME, ATENEANS

Your Alma Mater, the Ateneo de Naga, bids you warm welcome on your 21st Alumni Homecoming on December 30, 1967. Fittingly this is the same day the nation remembers the supreme obligation of your fellow Atenean and national hero, Dr. Jose Rizal.

We welcome you as warriors who have borne the brunt of battle and are coming home for a brief but welcome rest.

You may be a public servant or business executive, a doctor or priest, a farmer or lawyer, a laborer or office worker, a husband or wife, a father or mother, whatever your station in life, we know that you have made small and big obligations of self to project in your own ideal of what an Atenean should be. That ideal is summed up in the school motto 'PRIMUM REGNUM DEI'. First the Kingdom of God.

We welcome you to share with us and your fellow alumni your personal exploits and adventures in that field of life that God has marked out for you. And we trust that all of us will draw from this Alumni Homecoming fresh vigor and inspiration to continue our work of self-giving to God, our neighbor and country.

Make this a 'must' in your calendar, December 30, 1967, ADN Alumni Homecoming at the Ateneo de Naga.

ment relations were examined during the discussions. Particular attention was devoted to identifying areas of agreement and delimiting issues to be resolved. Many of these issues will, of course, require further examination by both governments.

Both groups recognized that, for any new instrument to become effective, action by the respective legislative bodies of the two countries would be required. In view of the necessity for further examination of the remaining issues, it was considered premature at this time to discuss the text of the new agreement, or the time at which any new agreement would become effective.

The teams have prepared a joint report which the chairman of each team will submit to his President. It is expected that the group will meet again at the earliest practicable date for the purpose of attempting to resolve the remaining substantive issues, thereby making possible the negotiation of a new instrument to replace the Laurel-Langley Agreement.

Cattle Diseases Still Menaces Livestock

Sorsogon, Sorsogon,

Raising of cattle whether for milk or beef will not prosper much in some areas of Sorsogon unless liverfluke disease is fully eradicated or at least minimized.

Several veterinarians, private as well as those employed by the Bureau of animal industry, hinted that parasitism infection among cattle and carabaos in the province is causing untold losses to farmers. Production of milk is impaired, not to mention the fact that those are usually discarded for human consumption, they said.

Rizal Day Celebration

Dr. Jose Rizal

Rizal and social conscience.

This will be the theme of this year's observance of the 71st anniversary of the death of Dr. Jose Rizal next Dec. 30.

President Marcos will lead the nation in honoring the hero when he lays a wreath at the foot of the Rizal monument at the Luneta. The ceremony will mark the lowering of flags to half-mast all over the nation.

Meeting in Malacanang recently, the special committee in charge of Rizal day headed by Secretary of Education Carlos P. Romulo, decided to do away with speeches and focus instead on the historical aspects of the hero's death.

The committee announced that all over the nation, the ceremonies will be characterized by "solemnity", dignity and restraint."

Main features of the commemoration include: 1. Lecture which will be given in Calamba, birthplace of Rizal; Dapitan, his place of exile; and at Fort Santiago, where he was incarcerated and where he wrote his famous poem "My Last Farewell." 2. Floral offerings at places abroad where the hero visited, such as at San Francisco's Palace Hotel, in Tokyo, and in Heidelberg. Led by Philippine ambassadors or consuls there, the Filipino community in each place will participate. 3. Appropriate ceremonies at the Paco cemetery where the hero was laid to rest immediately after his execution at the Luneta. 4. School children will be urged to make a pilgrimage or offer wreaths at the shrines and monuments of the hero. 5. The Philippine flag will be flown at half-mast all over the country.

Lectures at Fort Santiago will be the auspices of the Philippines Historical Commission and the Knights of Rizal. The project is headed by Fr. de la Costa, rector of Ateneo de Manila University. Romulo said that special invitations to these lectures will be issued to presidents of students organizations, professors of history, tourist guides, labor leaders
