FM on Human Rights

President Marcos declared recently that the acceptance of human rights by the government and peoples of the world is "one of the foundation stones of civilization."

During the observance of Human Rights Day, the President pointed out that it "is both as reminder and an encouragement" for enlarging the "moral possibilities of our culture" through the extension of human rights to every individual and community in the world.

Mr. Marcos should explain thru Commissioner Sy-Changco, the nature of the 28 million pesos in government funds released during the 5-month period immediately preceding the last elections as exposed by Sen. Roxas; otherwise he's just as good as making his own obstacles in '69

The LP Senators are right in demanding from the Budget Commissioner the nature of the funds released during the electoral campaign period. It's most unfortunate though, that Mr. Sy-Changco is responsible only to Mr. Marcos, and the latter in turn responsible only to the people. Nevertheless, Sen. Ziga & Co. should know better than making Commissioner Sy-Changco their source of information.

Sec. Antonio Raquiza reportedly spent almost all of his 12 million-peso contingent fund and about half of his 9 million discretionary fund during the period from Oct. 1 to Nov. 20, 1967. So what? He was authorized by Congress to spend it, was'nt he? Why blame Raquiza? or Marcos, for that matter? If at all, there should be anyone who should be more blamed for all these abuses of public funds expenditure, it should be the very people who approved the national budget in the first place.

There is no truth to the rumor that another Marcos cabinetman is due to resign for the complication of his wife in another shady government-deal

Prizes for Red Cross Tickets Raffle Here Reduced

Prizes stipulated in the Red Cross raffle tickets will suffer major changes due to losses wrought by typhoon "Whelming" to agricultural crops and properties in Naga City and Camarines Sur. This was the consensus of opinion made by members of the local Red Cross Board as attempt to step up sales of raffle tickets failed to materialize. Individual agents and group agents like Public School Teachers, Municipal Mayors and Treasurers, other Red Cross volunteers and supporters due to hardship in the present living condition the effect of last natural disaster failed to cover their respective quotas or goals.

The raffle, a fund raising drive supposed to be held December 31, 1967, registered a very poor sale and placed the local Red Cross board in dilemma.

Considering the poor sales output and expenses incurred incident to the holding of this raffle plus the individual or group shares of solicitors, the local Board modified and approved the following prizes: 1st Prize 1 Regal Sewing Machine; 2nd Prize Radio-ta Model with crystal mix; and 3rd Prize, 1 Standard Brand Wall Clock. Consolation prizes of P5 each will also be awarded to ten other lucky winners.

Incentive prizes for agents or solicitors will also be given on the following basis: Individual agent selling the 1st Prize P50; 2nd Prize, P30; 3rd Prize, P20; Group agents selling the first Prize, P50; 2nd Prize P30; 3rd Prize, P20.

PETE L. AMPOLOQUIO

It's supposed to be merry christmas, but my paisano, the "Partial Reviewer" is never merry at all. His candidate was unable to go through. Unknown to the "Star Witness" is the story that Mr. Diez was the "mastermind" of the Fuentebella-for-governor movement. Manong Andres, mayo lamang kita diun? Veinte sana.

The election of governor Armando Cledera is a blessing to the Nacionalistas in the province. Under the NP party rules, he automatically becomes chairman of the party. The fight for supremacy is over.

Former Rep. Juan F. Trivino appears to be interested in having a return bout with the incumbent 1st district Congressman. Mr. Trivino must have heard that the "great parasakdo" is in trouble. No "lagdong sakdo" this time.

The people of Naga City did not believe that Concejal Naldo Borja consumed more NESCAFÉ than Hizoner Inting Sibulo. They elected the man to the City Board. No more coffee break this time, maybe.

Atty. Gerry ORAA, my candidate for Congress in 1969 is the most academically prepared man for that fight. He holds two engineering degrees in addition to his law degree. What he lacks is a "third degree" in the assessment business.

Councilor-elect Bob Ruelo will soon be the guest of honor of a meeting of the "CASARAROAN NIN KINAPOBREHAN" headed by Mr. Jacinto Romero. This organization after all is not a political group. Its activities are not limited to the campaign period.

The incoming Naga Municipal Board should learn from the bitter lessons of the past. Partisan considerations should be subordinated to the overall interest of the people. That's the only brand of politics which will stand the test on the day of reckoning.

Why are we supposed to be happy during the Christmas season? The heavenly hosts proclaimed the answer. Glory be to God in the highest. Reason? He has declared that henceforth man is at peace with Him. God sees sinful man through the perfection of His own beloved son. Christian joy is founded on the rock of divine pardon.

The rebellious attitude of our young people may be traced sometimes to the stubbornness of parents in refusing to see things from their young ones point of view. Love and understanding from a father or mother can go a long way to cement a lasting harmony in the family.

The rising wave of criminality reveals the powerful influence our movies and comics have over those who patronize them. Stories glorifying crime amount to a hypnotic suggestions through association. The mind of man is largely "subconscious" and this subconscious state is highly susceptible to suggestion. Under the influence of his conditioned mind, man stands helpless.

New Trainees Join Regular Force

Malacanang was informed recently that 2,480 new trainee graduates will be retained in the regular force for possible assignment in the military socio-economic program of the defense department.

Brig. Gen. Romeo Esplana, PA commanding general, reported that these trainees have been trained along military, socio-economic and vocational lines in various military camps and reservations throughout the country.

These trainees, in accordance with the provisions of the new Trainee Utilization Law (R.A. 4091), will be enlisted in the massive socio-economic, civic action, engineering and other national development projects of the Philippine Army.

Earlier, 1,295 young recruits were scheduled to undergo field training with the First Infantry (Tabak) Division in Fort Mag-saysay, Nueva Ecija. This batch forms part of the 5,179 youths who will take the 6-month military training under the national defense law. They will compose the biggest group of recruits that have so far completed military and specialization training under the regular armed services.

The PA's trainee program, Espino said, also boosts the defense department's scheme of citizen-army build-up besides implementing the Trainee Law to its maximum and providing integrated and progressive development of skills among Filipino youths.

The utilization of trainee also brings about great economy on the part of the armed forces since the cost of maintaining one recruits is almost half the price of maintaining one regular.

U.S. Economist Suggests Flexible Approach to Development

Athens - A pragmatic, flexible approach to accelerate economic and social progress, is suggested by Walter M. Kotsching, U. S. delegate to the U.N. international symposium on industrial develop-

He noted a tendency in the economic and social agencies of the United Nations and other world bodies to formulate "ever-new sets of principles and a seemingly endless torrent of repetitive resolution."

He said these approaches, "however deserving of attention and respect, are not alone the answer."

"We have to find which approach and attitudes are best designed to set in motion and accelerate economic and social progress in developing countries and to help them achieve the state of self-sustaining growth which they are seeking," he said.

Rusk Praises Progress in Philippines, other Asian Nations

New York - "The remarkable" political and social progress in the Philippines and other non-communist countries in East Asia shows political stability and confidence in the future, says Secretary of State Rusk.

In the Philippines, Secretary Rusk said, "the Marcos administration is making noteworthy progress with a program concentrating on rice production and road building.

"New rice strains are coming into use. They were developed at the International Rice Research Institute at Los Banos, organized in 1960 by the Ford and Rockefeller Foundations in cooperation with the Government of the Philippines. These new strains, combined with new techniques, including proper use of fertilizers and pesticides, are increasing production dramatically.

"The Philippines has responded to the request for help from the Republic of Viet-Nam by sending a 2,000-man military engineering unit and other assistance."

already made in the extension of human rights to peoples of the world who have been denied these rights.

He said that it is his hope that human rights will continue to spread and take root "toward giving the fullest possible opportunities for the pursuit of happiness to all men".

The President's message follows:

"One of the foundation stones of civilization is the acceptance of human rights not only by sovereign governments but humanity as a whole; acceptance, not intellectual assent, but as a moral and spiritual conviction.

In the last few generations, the recognition of human rights as a basic element in human progress has gained wide currency, and through the United Nations, respect for human rights has become an ethic for many governments to live by, who perhaps in time will be able to enforce this respect with all the authority necessary.

The celebration of Human Rights Day today (Dec. 13) is both a reminder and an encouragement. We have, as a whole, made significant gains in enlarging the moral possibilities of our culture, through the hastening of the process of accumulation of experience in the validation and extension of human rights to every individual and community in the world.

It is my hope, as the Filipinos join this celebration, that respect for human rights as an attitude and way of life will continue to spread and take root toward giving the fullest possible opportunities for the pursuit of happiness to all men."

Some twenty-four ADN alumni have been ordained priests; fifteen are seculars, eight are Jesuits and one Benedictine. Fr. Vicencio Tioson, HS'50, Alumni priests of pre-war ADN are Frs. Vicente Cornejo and Ramon Mora. First post-war alumnus to be ordained secular priest was Fr. Benjamin Almoneda, HS'50, present Rector of the Holy Rosary Minor Seminary. First ADN post-war alumnus to be ordained Jesuit priest was Fr. Juan Bonafe, HS'47, present HS Student Counsellor at the Ateneo de Davao, Davao City. Fr. Andres Bolinas, HS'47 is present HS principal of the Ateneo de Naga. Still on studies abroad is Fr. Walter Isaac, S.J., valedictorian of HS'50. Just returned from the USA is Fr. Jesus Fernandez, HS'49, now teaching at the Loyola House of Studies. Most recently ordained is Fr. Selh Saenz, HS'54, now assistant priest of Capalonga.

Enlarged Land Reform Program

The Administration's land reform program will be expanded within the next two years. More land reform areas will be declared possibly to integrate the entire Central Luzon. The second district of Pampanga was made a land reform area last year.

President Marcos made this disclosure in his speech before the Philippines Historical Association seminar last No. 29. He said that his administration can now concentrate more on land reform, because its programs on rice production and infrastructure like irrigation, road, schoolhouse and pier constructions, have been successfully launched.

The declaration of an area as a land reform area is the first phase among the steps taken in making tenants eventual owners of the lands they are tilling. The government will eventually buy big landholdings, which will be subdivided and resold to tenants under liberal terms of payment.
